

Sydney Court Buildings Remain Open to the Public during Road Work

Friday, Oct. 6, 2023

Counsel and members of the public are advised that the Sydney courthouse at 136 Charlotte Street and the adjacent temporary court space at 164 Charlotte Street remain open to the public despite road construction underway in the area.

Construction work began on Charlotte Street between Nepean and Dorchester streets on Sept. 25, 2023, and is expected to last about six weeks. During that time, there will be one-way inbound traffic and pedestrian traffic will be maintained, although the routes may change throughout the project. Some on-street parking will also be affected.

The Sydney courthouse opened an off-site space on April 17, 2023, to accommodate ongoing restoration work following a floor in the courthouse building earlier this year. More information on what staff and services are available in each court building is available in the April 14, 2023 Notice.
